

Germans Still In Retreat

ALLIED ARMIES IN HOT PURSUIT OF THE FLEEING HUN TROOPS

BY JOHN DE GANDT

Paris, Oct. 11.—(1:22 a. m.)—The Germans are retreating precipitately northeastward from Cambrai in the General direction of Denain and Valenciennes.

East of Cambrai the allies are beyond Solesmes, and Le Cateau. East of St. Quentin, the French have reached the Oise at Hauteville, and nearing the Grand Valley and Guise region.

The enemy has set fire to Vouziers, the important railway town on the western edge of the Argonne forest. Farther to the east between the Argonne and the Meuse, the Franco-American advance is continuing.

BY FRED S. FERGUSON

With the American First Army, Oct. 11—French troops, co-operating with the Americans in the Argonne, have reached the outskirts of Grandpre. Further to the left the French have seized the railway station at the Western approach to the Grandpre Pass. The important cut through the Argonne Massif is thus in control of the allies, and the most important defenses in the great forest have been wiped out.

BY LOWELL MELLETT

With the British Armies in France, Oct. 11—British, French and American troops pressing on after the retreating enemy between the Souche and the Oise, are spreading out fan-wise and enlarging the gigantic drive into the heart of the German armies.

Through the capture of Estrum, the British are now only ten miles southwest of Valenciennes. British troops are also reported in Beaumont, four miles west of Douai. The British are beyond Le Cateau. The roads running northeastward and southward from the place are congested with enemy traffic. Low flying allied planes are exacting a terrible toll from the confused masses.

To the southward the French are battling along the Sambre-Oise canal and have approached to within five miles of Guise.

Paris, Oct. 10.—(Delayed)—Progress on four fronts was reported by the French war office tonight.

French troops advanced their lines east of St. Quentin, in the St. Gobain region, south of Laon, and in the Argonne.

Despite stiff resistance from German rear guards, the French advanced nearly four miles east of St. Quentin, occupying a number of villages.

The first direct attack in several weeks was made in the St. Gobain region, where the village of Servais was captured. Between the Ailette and the Aisne, French and Italian troops advancing astride the Chemin-Des-Dames pushed the enemy beyond the Oise canal.

Advancing on a front of about 15 miles in the Argonne forest and to the westward, the French made progress nearly two miles, to the outskirts of Mont St. Martin and St. Morel, and captured the Grandpre railway station, southwest of Termes.

East of St. Quentin, despite stiff resistance, we pursued the enemy rear guards and advanced six kilometers (3.14 miles) at certain points," the communique said.

We carried our line east of Seboncourt, as far as the approaches of Bernoville, (11 miles northeast of St. Quentin and less than five miles northeast of Guise) and east of Montigny and Bernot (5 miles southwest of Guise). We occupied numerous villages, including Fieulaine.

"South of the Oise in the St. Gobain region Servais (3 miles south of Laite.

Fere) has been captured and prisoners taken.

"Between the Ailette and the Aisne, French and Italian troops advancing on both sides of the Chemin-Des-Dames, have forced the Germans beyond the Oise canal.

"In the Argonne region, we passed the villages of Liry, Monthois and Challerange, and have reached the approaches of Mont St. Martin and St. Morel. We crossed the Aisne, opposite Termes, and captured the station on the Grandpre Railway. We took numerous prisoners.

"Our airplanes in massed formation, successfully dropped 32,600 kilograms of bombs, fired several thousand rounds of cartridges at enemy troops, brought down 21 hostile planes, and dropped 5,300 kilograms of explosives at night on the stations of Longuyon, Dommary, Brancourt and Au Dun Le Romain."

EVACUATION OF VILLAGES BEGUN

Rome, Oct. 11.—Italian correspondents on the western front declare the Germans have begun an evacuation of villages near the Swiss-Alsatian frontiers, 40 villages between Basle and Comar having been cleared.

Inhabitants of Nuthous, Colmar, Altkirch, Ferret and other villages, it is asserted, have been ordered to be evacuated at a moment's notice.

As Secretary Lansing declared in an address last night at Auburn, N. Y.

DEVASTATION IN THE WAKE OF THE RETREATING GERMANS

Railroad near Albert torn up by Huns.

This British official photo gives an idea of the destruction and devastation left in the wake of the retreating Huns as they are driven back by the allied forces. The

soldier in the foreground was the first man to reach this point after the Huns left it. The photographer was right behind him, it seems.

OVER TWO HUNDRED MEN BELIEVED TO HAVE PERISHED ON U. S. SHIP

An Atlantic Port, Oct. 11.—Two hundred and forty-three men including American army men detailed to care for horses, are believed to have been slain, mainly by shell fire when the U. S. S. Ticonderoga, formerly the German ship Camilla Rickmers was torpedoed and shelled 1,700 miles off the Atlantic coast. The story of her destruction, brought to this port by seventeen men who were rescued from an open boat, is a tale of relentless murder by the commander of the U-boat.

Launching a torpedo into the side of the Ticonderoga after she had been forced to leave a convoy, the submarine fired on the ship as she tried to steam away, and at a range of a mile began spraying her with shrapnel. The Ticonderoga's gun crew went to their stations but both guns were quickly shot away. The crew then tried to take to the boats but the U-boats cannon were turned on the lifeboats and they were torn to splinters.

One boat was lowered while the submarine's guns hurled shells at it. Men fell by the score, wounded as they tried to go over the side of the sinking ship. One boat successfully launched, tried to pull away but was met by a hurricane of shells, bursting over them and over the men struggling in the water. One man swam to the U-boat which was less than a quarter of a mile away, begging the German lieutenants to stop. He was commanded to swim away from the lieutenant who leveled a revolver at him.

The boat was then ordered alongside the raider, which tied it by a line to the U-boat. Suddenly the officers disappeared into the U-boat, and the vessel submerged. Only the bursting of the line saved the boat from being drawn down after the pirate.

KAISER WILL ATTEMPT TO EVADE ISSUE

By Robert J. Bender.

Washington, Oct. 11.—That the Kaiser of his militaristic crew will attempt evasion and counter-proposals when they reply to President Wilson's note was the conviction in well-informed circles here today.

According to reports received here the German reply will be submitted to the Reichstag—in order to give it the semblance of "approved by the people."

Many careful observers of German practices believe the reply will run about thus:

"Germany will accept the President's fourteen points if they are made to apply to America's friends as well as her enemies."

"Germany will evacuate Belgium and Northern France and draw all but necessary police forces out of other occupied territory, provided Great Britain evacuates the German colonies and Japan prepares to return to Kiao Chan."

To the President's pointed inquiry as to just whom Prince Max represented in submitting his peace appeal, authorities look for such reply as this:

"Germany is undergoing a political revolution and in the process of this change, insofar as it is possible for any one man to speak for the people as a whole, Prince Max so speaks."

The Reichstag to approve his peace proffer or give him a vote of confidence that he can "put over" this claim.)

That President Wilson will enter no bickering or quibbling over such evasions if made, has been definitely assured. The allies and America are the visitors—they shall dictate what shall or shall not be done.

As Secretary Lansing declared in an address last night at Auburn, N. Y.

NEARLY THREE HUNDRED LOST ON JAP SHIP

An English Port, Oct. 11.—Tales of atrocities rivaling the most pitiful deeds of German submarines, were told here today as the story of the sinking of the Japanese ship, Hirono Maru, was pieced out from the pitifully small number of passengers and crew who were saved.

Nearly 300 are missing. The attack of the submarine was without warning. Not a boat could be swung over the side of the stricken vessel in time for any one to get aboard. Only the swift response of an American destroyer to the calls for aid, flashed out in the brief moments left to the wireless, made it possible for 29 persons to be taken from the cold water. The submarines remained in the vicinity and fired two torpedoes at the destroyer, which ignored the pirate until the crew picked up the struggling victims. Then she turned, firing shots and dropping depth bombs.

Attacked, the U-boat fled. Survivors declared they were fast becoming exhausted when the destroyer appeared. The sight of bodies of several passengers and crew who failed to escape, was seen as the ship went down.

Women and children were among those drowned.

INFLUENZA CHECKED AT CAMP SHERMAN

Camp Sherman, Oct. 11.—The Spanish influenza situation here was believed to be well in hand today. Military work will be resumed as soon as new cases of pneumonia cease to develop. This, it is hoped, will be the case in a few days. The spread of the influenza has been checked.

There were 35 deaths in the 24 hours preceding this morning, raising the total to 813.

There are now 1,000 cases of pneumonia in the base hospital as compared with 1,450, four days ago.

It is noted by camp authorities that the pneumonia cases now developing are of a milder sort than in the early days of the epidemic.

The 35 deaths reported this morning was the lowest number for any 24 hours since a week ago Monday.

TIME IS CRITICAL; OVERSUBSCRIBE LIBERTY LOAN, URGES PRESIDENT

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Wilson has issued this statement on the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign:

"Recent events have enhanced, not lessened the importance of this loan and I hope that my fellow-countrymen will let me say to them frankly: The best thing that could happen would be that the loan should not only be fully subscribed, but very greatly oversubscribed. We are in the midst of the greatest exercise of the power that has ever been witnessed, or forecast, and a single day of relaxation in that effort would be of tragic damage alike to ourselves and to the rest of the world. Nothing has happened which makes it safe or possible to do anything but push our effort to the utmost. The time is critical and the response must be complete."

(Signed)

"WOODROW WILSON."

DESPONDENT BECAUSE DESERTER ESCAPED SOLDIER ENDS HIS LIFE

Asbamed to face his superiors without the deserter placed in his custody, despondent because the man had escaped from him, and terrified by visions of court martial and Ft. Leavenworth prison, Sergeant Leslie LaFargo, of Company D, Second Development Battalion, Camp Sherman, shot himself to death behind a pile of tiles near the Ervin Brothers and Davis Elevator on South White-man street, at 6:15 Friday morning.

John and George Smith, brothers, going to work at the Xenia shoe factory, found the body with a ghastly wound in the head, and lying in a pool of blood, shortly before 6:30 and a few minutes after shot of a revolver had rang through the still morning air. The bullet had entered the head behind the right ear and emerged through the left jaw. The soldier's 14 Army Colt revolver lay partially under the legs, as it had fallen from the right hand.

The tragedy occurred after Sergeant LaFargo had spent hours of anxious search, followed by a sleepless night at the Atlas Hotel, for Carl Hapner, of Middletown, a deserter from Company B, Development Battalion at Camp Sherman, who escaped from the B. and O. train in this city Thursday evening at 5 o'clock while Sergeant LaFargo was taking him back to camp.

After the train pulled out of the local station, and was near the factory of the Eavey Packing Company, Sergeant LaFargo unlocked the handcuffs with which he had kept the prisoner fastened to himself during the trip from Middletown, and stepped back to the water tank, only two or three seats away, to get a drink. When he looked again he saw his prisoner disappearing through the window.

As quickly as possible the train was stopped, but Hapner, who was dressed in citizens clothes, had disappeared.

Sergeant LaFargo came up town and hunted up Sheriff Jackson, who secured an automobile and for three hours helped the sergeant look for the prisoner. They hunted afoot through the railroad yards and every place in the vicinity, but no trace of the man was found.

Sergeant LaFargo's worry increased. He appeared wrought into a nervous state bordering upon insanity, and Sheriff Jackson did all he could to calm him.

"It's Leavenworth for me. I'll have to serve his time," LaFargo kept repeating.

Sheriff Jackson went with the sergeant to the Western Union Telegraph office where two messages were sent, one to Captain Hardy, at Camp Sherman, in which the situation was explained, and the other to the chief of police at Middletown, who was instructed to look for Hapner. Sheriff Jackson was confident that Hapner would return to Middletown within a day or two, and told LaFargo so.

advising him not to worry. LaFargo told the sheriff that Hapner had been arrested at his home, where his wife was ill, and the local officer felt that this fact would draw the deserter back to his home within a short time.

The sheriff left the sergeant near the Sohn drug store on Main street about 9 o'clock, told him to go to the Atlas Hotel and get a room and go to bed. LaFargo asked what time he could get a train out of here in the morning for Camp Sherman, and was told 7:45. After Sheriff Jackson left him, he continued his search, and went to the East Main street fire house, where he borrowed Chief Buckles' flashlight. He met a boy who said he had seen a man answering the prisoner's description, and they searched through the railroad yards again.

About 10 o'clock the officer went to the Atlas Hotel and was assigned to room 7. At the hotel his nervousness was pronounced, and he walked the floor before being assigned to his room. He talked to the clerk and told him about the prisoner, and said that he felt sorry for the man, who was taken away from his wife's bedside.

Before 6 o'clock, Friday morning, the man came down stairs at the hotel, left his key, and went out without mentioning breakfast.

A few minutes before the tragedy occurred, Richard Jones, who is employed at night at the express office at the Pan Handle station, met the soldier in the railroad yards, near the grain elevator. He was looking over his shoulder repeatedly, and appeared nervous. It was a few minutes after this time that people living in the vicinity heard the shot. Supposing that it was a railroad detective firing at some one, little attention was given the shot.

Police were notified as soon as the body was found, and when Patrolman Michael Graham reached the spot, the body was still warm. Coroner R. L. Haines, who is ill, instructed Chief of Police Canada to take charge of the body, and it was turned over to Undertaker J. H. Whitmer.

Chief Canada sent a message to the commanding officer of Company D, Development Battalion, Camp Sherman, giving details of the tragedy, and asking for instructions.

An answer to the message sent last night by Sergeant LaFargo, to his commanding officer, was received Friday morning at the Western Union office. The office wired back that the man to whom it was addressed, was dead.

In Sergeant LaFargo's pockets, Undertaker Whitmer found his credentials, which were turned over to Chief Canada, a pocket book containing some money, and personal letters.

There was a letter from his mother, Mrs. Sidney Soules of Livingston Manor, New York, dated October 1, in which she told him she was recovering from a serious illness, that he should not worry, and that she was looking forward to seeing her "darling boy" at Christmas time.

Another letter from his sister, Mrs. F. Glen Morris of Binghamton, N. Y., and signed "Margaret and Glen," written October 6, contained a clipping from a Binghamton paper, concerning his recent visit there on a furlough.

The clipping gave a little of his history. It said that he had served 7 years and six months in the Regular Army, had been in the Philippines, South America, the Canal Zone, and Mexican border, and was then at Camp Sherman, drilling colored troops, and teaching them the machine gun. He had been in the machine gun company in the Regular Army. The clipping said that he was then on his first furlough since his enlistment.

Another letter from Claude Reynolds at Livingston Manor, N. Y., written September 22, thanked the sergeant for drilling men, while he was there on his furlough.

City Fireman Charles Mahanna, who talked to the sergeant on two occasions when he was at the East Main street fire station Thursday night, said that the man, while extremely nervous expressed no fear that he would be punished at camp for failure to return with his prisoner. "I have to go out for another one tomorrow, and believe me, I am going to keep the shackles on him," he said.

LaFargo borrowed a flash light at the fire station, and returned with it inside of an hour. He said that he had located his man in the southern part of town, and that he had gotten away in the darkness.

He told the firemen that this was the third time his prisoner had deserted camp, and that he was away the last time for 125 days. Sudden insanity due to his worry over the prisoner's escape, is believed to have been the cause of the man's deed, rather than fear of punishment.

GREATEST AIR ARMADA OF WAR BOMBS THE HUNS

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 11.—An American bombing expedition, consisting of more than 350 machines, yesterday dropped 32 tons of explosives on German cantonments in the area between Waville and Damvillers, about 12 miles north of Verdun.

The American bombing exploit marks one of the high spots in the air fleet operations of the war. In the expedition were more than 200 bombing airplanes, 100 pursuit machines and 50 triplanes.

The bombing machines were given splendid protection during the aerial battle which took place during the operation. Twelve enemy machines were destroyed. Only one Entente plane failed to return.

In addition, American airplanes yesterday destroyed or brought down five German machines and one balloon. They also took a great number of photographs and dropped newspapers to the American troops.

PERSHING'S HEROES SPEAK AT OSBORN LIBERTY LOAN MEET

Two soldier boys, each of whom sacrificed one of his legs upon the battlefields of France, were speakers at the outdoor Liberty Loan meeting, which was held in Osborn, Thursday night. Leon P. Earl, of Cincinnati, a well known Liberty Loan worker, was the chief speaker of the evening.

Corporal H. Williams of the Forty-second Division, and Private Paul Rejesky of the First Division, who are assisting in the Liberty Loan campaign in this district told simply their stories of the manner in which they received their wounds.

Corporal Williams met the injury which resulted in the loss of his leg, in the Lorraine, last April, when machine gunners got him in "No Man's Land." Private Rejesky lost his left leg at the hip last May, in Cantigny, when a high explosive shell hit him. He is walking with crutches, but Corporal Williams has an artificial limb.

Both soldiers have been in the hospital ever since they received their wounds and were brought across and taken to a base hospital in Washington two months ago. They have not yet been finally discharged, and will return to the hospital.

The president of the Greene County Board of Construction was undecided as to whether the new law concerning improvements would affect this work, and in order to satisfy him and the church committee, Mr. Cleveland, the decorator, Mr. Faulkner, the secretary of the committee, and the pastor went before the Ohio Board in Columbus on Wednesday and were immediately assured that the going on with the law and the work, which has been already well under way, has been continued.

'PATRIOTIC LEAGUE' USED BY COX MACHINE TO ROUND UP VOTES

Columbus, O., Oct. 11.—Driven to the last ditch in the failure to enlist even its own party in behalf of the third term aspiration of James M. Cox, the Democratic state committee is mailing to what they please to term "doubtful voters" a circular letter bearing the stamp of the "Patriotic League of Ohio," and signed by W. J. Shively and Harry W. Smith, two Democratic politicians.

In this letter they are enclosing a blank which they ask voters to sign and return to the "league," which was organized and financed by W. W. Durbin, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee.

The letter is camouflaged by the sentences calling attention that "Love and kin of the country and the sacrifice your boy will make will more than pay any financial return we could ask."

The letter is an appeal to commercialized patriotism in the basest and most infamous way. It is so couched that the average man does not see the cunning political hand of the Democratic plotters behind it.

Patriotism is prostituted and dragged in the mire of partisan politics by the following appeal:

"We know your heart is somewhere in France. We want your support. Your son needs it. Please communicate your desire to co-operate with us by signing the enclosed membership card and returning it in the envelope you will find with this letter."

This so-called "league" was organized here two weeks ago by the Cox machine. Several men left the meeting and denounced the scheme as infamous and outrageous, denouncing Bill Durbin and the Cox machine in Ohio for prostituting the patriotism of fathers and mothers, wives and daughters, and insulting the boys in the trenches with the dastardly scheme.

The object of the so-called "league" is to get a mailing list of Republican fathers to whom the Democratic machine wishes to mail vicious literature attacking Former Governor Frank B. Willis.

WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN

BY J. W. T. MASON.

New York, Oct. 11.—Von Hindenburg is now entering the last lap of his retreat to the great French fortress of Maubeuge, guarding the Belgian border.

The Belgian boundary soon will be occupied by the German army as its main defensive position and northern France will be redeemed.

The Americans and British are advancing so quickly along the main railway leading to Maubeuge that it is now doubtful whether Von Hindenburg can make a prolonged resistance anywhere until he gets back to the fortress.

The fact that the Americans and British are today within two miles of Lechateau shows Von Hindenburg is in deep anxiety to retire to Belgium as soon as the rescuing of his stores will permit.

The Germans are fighting only rear-guard actions; and by making no determined stand before La Cateau indicate they have no intention of clinging to any part of France beyond the Maubeuge line. Maubeuge is the southernmost protective link in the defenses the Germans have constructed for safeguarding their hold upon the Meuse line in Belgium.

If the British and Americans succeed in driving the Germans from Maubeuge the line of retreat would be along the Sambre river, which joins the Meuse at Namur. Namur in its turn is the southern key to Liege, which guards the military passage-way from Belgium to Germany.

The Anglo-American wedge, therefore, which is now moving relentlessly upon Le Cateau has but to continue its present northeasterly direction in a straight line to reach Liege.

This is the ultimate object of the present movement. It thus has a relationship with American operations north of Verdun, which are moving down the Meuse to close the Luxembourg exit out of France. If the Americans from Verdun follow the Meuse along its course, and the Americans in Picardy continue the present direction of their advance past Maubeuge, the two armies will join forces at Namur.

That is not an impossibility, but may well occur in the not distant future.

NEWS OF BROTHER'S ILLNESS AND DEATH COME WITHIN HOUR

An hour after she had received a letter telling of the dangerous illness at his home in Tampa, Fla., of her brother, Clarence Wright, Mrs. Ed. Miller of West Main street, was handed a telegram announcing his death, which occurred at 8:30 Thursday night.

Mr. Wright was taken ill of influenza, last Saturday morning, the attending physician, Dr. S. S. Wilson, formerly of this city, said that typhoid had developed. He was unconscious at the time the letter was written.

Mr. Wright was a native of Gallia county, and his family had lived here about 25 years. He would have been 40 years old in January. Surviving him are his widow, who was his second wife, and six children, five of them by his first marriage. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright of this city, spent last winter with him in Tampa, and after a visit here, returned to Tampa last July to remain during the coming winter.

The body will be brought to Xenia for burial, and will be accompanied by the family. They are expected here Sunday morning.

Alaskan Coast Forests.

The coast forests of southern and southeastern Alaska are included in the national forests of Tongass and Chugach, which comprise over 96,000,000 acres, a large proportion of which is covered with trees. Of these Sitka spruce averages about 20 per cent and western hemlock about 75 per cent.

CLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

TROY PUT IT OVER IN TWENTY FOUR HOURS

Up at Troy they have thoroughly American ways of doing things, as befits a town originally settled by men who fought in the Revolutionary war.

When the Fourth Liberty loan was decided on the Trojans opined they'd get their quota by voluntary subscriptions. W. F. Jolley, one of the loan workers, mentioned the fact while in Washington to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo.

"You may succeed, but I doubt it," said McAdoo.

"We'll do it, alright," rejoined Jolley.

The sequence was that after the "driveless" drive was on twenty-four hours it was found that $380,000 had been subscribed. The desired quota was $375,000.

The citizens of the Miami county seat, armed with cash and checkbooks, simply swamped the banks on the first day of the campaign. At this writing the city is far above its quota.

DISCOURAGED

You have tried everything. It's the same old story. I hear it everyday. Your courage is gone, your faith is gone. The end would be gladly welcomed, but even that won't come. What would you give to be a well man—a well woman? What wouldn't you give? Worse cases, perhaps than yours, are yielding as if by magic to this subtle power. Why not your case? I will leave it to your intelligence and good judgment. Slaves to mock or false modesty, you deserve to suffer. 95 per cent of the supposed incurable cases could be relieved physically and mentally, if they would only confess it to a friend, family, or better, a skilled physician. Don't argue I've tried electricity with no results—you may have no idea what an up-to-date electrically equipped institution really is.

IF I ONLY KNEW JUST WHAT AILS ME.

How often have you made this remark? Yet you continue to suffer, hesitating to seek aid because you consider that medical attention would be too expensive, or, perhaps, are you dissatisfied with past treatment.

Remember, all the wishing, hoping and praying never cured any real physical ailment. Then, why continue to grope in the dark, suffering pain, discomfort and dissatisfaction? An X-ray examination will cost you but one dollar and is considered by the medical profession as one of the greatest aids to a correct diagnosis. If your case is not incurable you can be treated in one of the most completely equipped offices in the Middle West. 25 years' experience.

The small border, or treasure, which surrounds the arms of Scotland in the British coat of arms is the emblem of preservation or protection. A legend states that the border was given to Achaia, king of the Scots, by Charlemagne as a pledge that the French lilies should defend the Scottish lion. The significance of this lies in the design of the border, which is composed of three lilies.

When You Fight--Fight

FIGHT as these American soldiers fought in the streets of Fismes. "They covered themselves with glory," the papers say. Of course they did—they are Americans.

They met the finest of the enemy's troops in a terrific hand-to-hand struggle. They used their guns—their bayonets—their bare fists. Every American soldier went after his man desperately, fearlessly, persistently, with one great driving purpose—to whip that Prussian Guard, to silence its machine guns—to win!

It's a pretty good way to fight—this American way. It wins battles over there, it will win a splendid victory over here—if we fight when we fight—if we buy Liberty Bonds to our utmost.

AMERICA'S "DISCOVERY DAY"—OCTOBER 12th.

The discovery of America opened a new road to freedom; it is our task to keep the road open. We have accepted the legacy and are now defending it by force of arms. The celebration of our discovery day is designed to clothe, with its true significance, the event which made America possible, and stimulated her to become, not "a land of broken promise," but a land where liberty may live.

October twelfth is not only a notable day in the history of human progress, but also one of our most inspiring national traditions, because it reminds America of her high mission to make her experiment in democracy the hope of the world.

It seems to the writer that nothing should be more interesting than a little review of the arduous time Columbus had to get anybody to back him with the means to discover us. By long study he had convinced himself that by sailing west from Europe he could reach India, which was what he set out to do, not to discover a continent. So it seems we were discovered by accident.

Christopher Columbus was born in Genoa, Italy. His original name was Christoforo Colombo, son of Domenico Colombo, a wool comber. When he went to Spain, according to the custom of the time he latinized his name into Columbus.

When 14 years of age he began his nautical career with a relative of the same name. About 1470 he went to Lisbon and supported himself by making maps and charts, but had opportunity to sail occasionally on coast expeditions.

In pursuit of his nautical theories, he made application to the rulers of Genoa and Portugal, and to the King of England, for the means to outfit an expedition, but was refused and finally applied to Ferdinand, King of Spain. The latter referred the matter to a council of scientists, which reported after due examination that "the project is vain and impossible and not becoming great princes to engage in."

Then there were seven years of deferred hope, which Columbus endured with undiminished confidence. The record is that he claimed there was in the scriptures "assurance that Christianity should be extended to the ends of the earth," and came to regard himself as the destined instrument of Heaven for that end.

Dazzled by Columbus's stupendous projects, the prior of a convent, Juan Perez, who had been Queen Isabella's confessor, gave Columbus a letter to the Queen, heartily endorsing the latter's views.

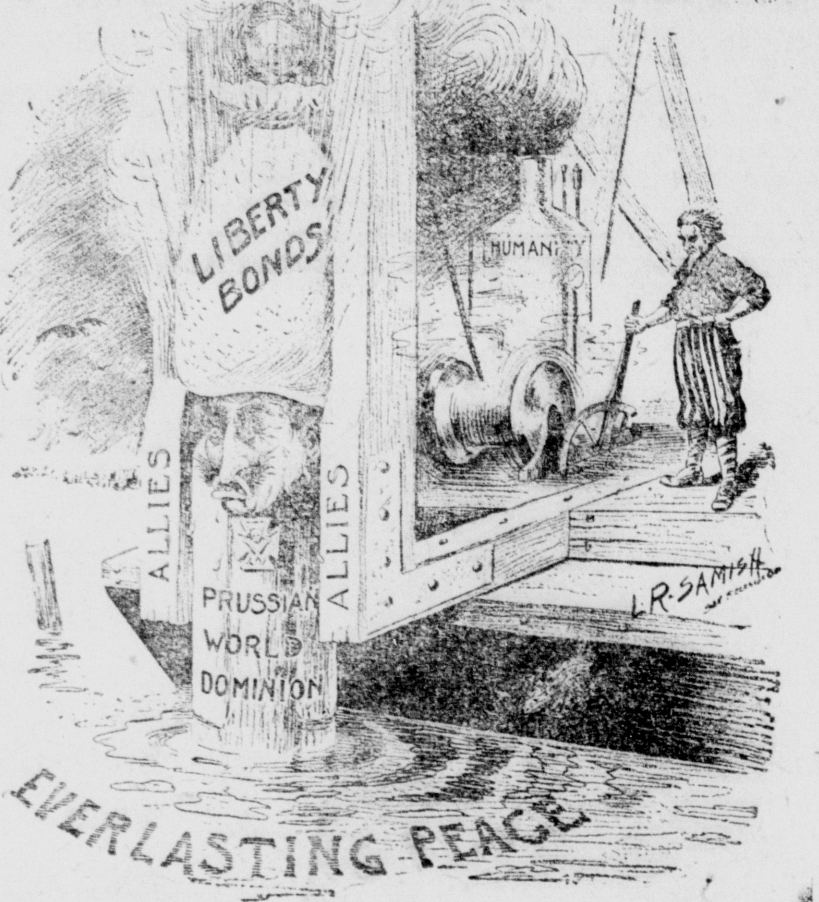

The interview given by the Queen to Columbus convinced her in his favor, but King Ferdinand coldly informed her that the exchequer was empty—and in the slang of today that there "was nothing doing." But Isabella exclaimed: "I undertake the enterprise for my own crown, and will pledge my jewels to raise the necessary funds."

So it was that on Friday, August 24, 1492, Columbus and crews of three ships, the Santa Maria, the Pinta and the Nina, set sail from near Palos. Before sailing, Columbus, with most of his officers and crew, confessed to Juan Perez, and received the communion.

At 2 o'clock a. m., Friday, Oct. 12, 1492, after having been 71 days at sea, the Pinta fired a gun, the signal for land. The land proved to be one of the Bahama group, San Salvador.

Twice afterward, Columbus made trips, with expeditions, to the new world he had discovered, and died a broken old man at Seville, Nov. 7, 1504, his last words in Latin being: "Lord, into thy hands I commit my spirit."

But death did not end his voyages. His remains were first deposited in the convent of St. Francis, were transferred in 1513 to the monastery at Las Cuevas; were taken in 1536 to Santo Domingo; and deposited in the cathedral in that city; thence were conveyed with great pomp in 1796 to the cathedral in Havana, Cuba, where it is claimed they still repose.

Uncle Sam's The Driver
PILE ON YOUR DOLLARSRUM GANG ROBBED OF STOCK ARGUMENT
IN THIS CAMPAIGN

In all the preceding campaigns in which the prohibition of the liquor traffic was an issue, one of the stock arguments of the booze gang was that if prohibition carried, thousands of men would be thrown out of employment. In street cars, on telephone poles, on billboards were placards picturing homes which would be made destitute if so many thousands were turned away from their jobs by the closing of the saloon. Where are those placards now? Approximately three hundred thousand men are engaged in the manufacture and sale of liquor, if their figures in former campaigns can be trusted. Three hundred thousand men making and distributing booze—in saloons, restaurants, breweries, and the like, while Uncle Sam, in this death struggle, while the world is on fire and the liberty of humanity is at stake, is calling for men to aid in munitions factories, and in other needful enterprises to carry on the war. Even in stores and shops Uncle Sam is forcibly taking clerks and bookkeepers and laborers, and compelling them to take jobs in essential vocations and help to keep the boys "over there" in ammunition and munitions of war, and in food stuffs while they rid the world of the unspeakable Hun. What are these liberty-loving patriots of the spigot and the bung, who have prated of their great love of "personal liberty" doing to help in this hour of need? You hear not a whimper in this campaign about throwing men out of employment by abolishing the liquor traffic. The nation is calling for men at the highest wages ever known in the history of the world. Both skilled and unskilled men are needed, and the country is being scourged with a fine tooth comb to find men to do the work at home which will back up the boys at the front. Heroic women are taking the places of men at hard labor. But nary a volunteer from the ranks of the Rum power. They are too busy organizing "Patriotic Leagues" to denounce loyal men who are giving their whole time and energy to the cause of humanity, to give any help to the country in this hour of need.

NEW JASPER

The schools of the township are closed because of Spanish influenza. Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Hite have been visiting Mr. Hite's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hite.

The schools of the township which are 100% in the Thrift stamp campaign are Junkins, New Jasper and White Chapel.

Miss Maude Rumer of Bookwalter, spent the week here with relatives.

The first meeting of the teachers of New Jasper township was held Friday, October 4 at New Jasper school with all teachers present. The subject for discussion was "The Purpose and Importance of Our Public School System." Many good points were brought out in the discussions. It was decided to hold the next meeting at White Chapel school.

Mrs. Otto Baughn entertained on Friday, the following guests, Mrs. Emma Carner of Belmont, Mrs. Nellie Shiley and Mrs. Jane Fannon of near Roversville, and Mrs. Margaret Bennett.

Misses Geneva and Dorothy Bennett are spending the week with their mother, Mrs. Margaret Bennett.

PLOTTERS

New York, Oct. 11.—Revelation of the method by which Count von Bernstorff and other German propagandists, failing in their effort to stop the shipment of munitions to the allies by blowing up ships and factories, or organizing a $2,000,000 pseudo-American corporation—the Bridgeport Projectile Company—to take big orders from the allies and then purposely fail to fill them, was made here last night by Mitchell Palmer, Alien Property Custodian, in announcing the taking over of 19,900 of the 20,000 shares of capital stock of the Bridgeport, Conn., concern.

In addition, Mr. Palmer stated, the company had reported to him other property worth $500,000 held by it for and in behalf of Germany.

HOW EVERY WOMAN CAN SAVE PAPER

"Don't mind wrapping it, please." If every woman who goes to the grocery, candy or delicatessen store, each day, would use this phrase to the clerk, when buying package goods, she would save thousands of tons of materials and chemicals, now essential in making munitions, poison gas, and other war materials. Don't be ashamed to carry home a bottle of milk, unwrapped in the usual paper bag. War pride should prompt you to take a basket to market, re-using your saved paper bags, not only once but a number of times, and thus do your share in paper conservation. Isn't the milk just as good; the package of chocolate as tasty, the biscuits as palatable? You must take the initiative; the store clerk doesn't dare offend you.

Your government needs your co-operation; it needs to restrict paper making; it needs all paper for remanufacture into shell wrappings, for packing soldiers' food and clothing, for questionnaires, for records, correspondence, for soldiers' letters. Do your part and prevent an actual shortage.

"THE WIFE"

BY JANE PHELPS

HAPPY DAYS FOLLOW THE DIN-NER IN THE VILLAGE.

CHAPTER LIX.

"You must take me to some more of those quaint eating places, Brian," Ruth said on the way home. "They are very entertaining."

"I thought you wouldn't like them, that they wouldn't be smart enough for you."

"Oh, but Brian, you must let me decide. Ask me when you want to go, and if I don't care to go along I'll tell you, but give me the chance to refuse."

They both knew she had her lunch on with Mollie King, of the day before in mind; although it had not again been mentioned.

"All right, Ruth, I like meeting the people I know, like seeing them, talking to them. I just thought you didn't care for them."

So a sort of flag of truce was fixed up. Neither mentioned anything disagreeable again. Yet both were thinking of the same thing, both wondering, in a way, how they were going to get along without constant friction.

Ruth had no intention of giving up her position. Brian had no intention of spending his time alone. He would cut out the lunches when Ruth was at home; that was only fair when she had been so decent. But when she left him, he would do as he pleased—and she had no kick coming. This was the way his cogitations ended.

"What's this?" he asked, picking up the rent receipt.

"I had to go by the office this noon, and as I had the money, I ran in and paid it. I thought it would save an extra trip," she answered as unconcerned as she could.

Brian made no remark.

"Your clients are so slow in paying what they owe you, I will pay the house bills until you get your money in. What little they do give you, we need to sport with. I expect it is so with all professional men—that they have hard times collecting their bills. I know it is with doctors," she was talking to gain time, to take his mind from her offer to pay the bills.

"Old Doctor Graham used to say that 'people expect a doctor to eat promises, and so gave them nothing else.'"

"People are slow in paying professional men," Brian responded, "Yet I haven't so much out," he added honestly.

That was one thing Ruth loved in Brian. His truthfulness. She had never known him to lie to her about the slightest thing. He might keep still, not tell her things, but, if she asked him, she had the truth. It was a comfort too, especially since she had found out about Mollie King.

Ruth was very busy at the store the next few days, very tired at night. Brian saw that she looked exhausted and said nothing about going out in the evening, for which Ruth was grateful.

Kenyon Roberts and his wife came in one evening to play cards, but aside from that, they spent the time alone. Brian had quite recovered his good nature, Ruth was careful not to mention anything that might annoy him, and they had a quiet happy week together.

Ruth had gone to bed night after night with a lighter heart than she had known for many days. She smiled in the dark as she thought of Brian, his boisterous, his irresponsibility. At times she felt almost as if she might be his mother. "I'd spank him, if I were," she said to herself. Her heart yearned over him. She loved him with every fibre of her being. She wanted to make him happy, to be happy herself—and there were so many things she had to consider.

No man could be more charming than could Brian when he bestirred himself; few men more interesting. He had an unerring taste in the subject to choose for conversation, fitting it like a glove to his audience. Yet, with this unusual asset, he could be just exactly the opposite when either too indolent, or too upset because of some foolish happening, to make any effort.

Ruth had come to realize this trait and to try in every way to combat the indolence or grouch that made him so different from what he could be when he chose. She saw clearly that his ability to charm, to interest, would be a big factor in his success professionally if he did not so easily allow himself to be switched off by his feeling. She talked to him of this, not in a fault-finding way, but emphasizing the good points while speaking of the others simply as something he did unconsciously.

"Why, Brian, she said as they sat in the little living room after dinner, 'I believe you could be one of the biggest lawyers in New York if you weren't so temperamental; or if you would learn to use only that part of your temperament that appeals so strongly to people. When you first meet people they are drawn to you very quickly. But you are such a boy! If they don't do just as you think they should, you show it so plainly. You must learn to hide it when you are not pleased.'"

"I'll get there some day, and without playing the hypocrite, too!"

"I don't want you to be hypocritical, dear; I only want you to show your best side. Keep the other under cover. It will pay."

Tomorrow—Arthur Mandel Investigates Brian's Business Office.

LITTLE BOY IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN THE LEG

William Pierce, son of R. E. Pierce of Spring Valley, accidentally shot himself with a .32 caliber gun, Thursday night.

Dr. Messenger was called and the boy was brought to the office of Pavay & Kester in this city where the X-Ray and Florescope was used to locate the bullet. It was found that the bullet had entered the fleshy part of the right leg, hit the bone, and been deflected back.

Dr. Pavay did the X-Ray work and Dr. Messenger performed the operation. The X-Ray proved invaluable as the bullet was located a considerable distance from the point where it entered the leg.

The lad is getting along nicely and it is hoped the accident will not prove serious.

BAN ON CHURCH MEETINGS STILL ON IN XENIA

Church goers are reminded that the ban on public meetings is still on in Xenia and as a consequence there will be no church services in this city the coming Sunday. In many of the rural communities the health boards have taken similar action closing churches and forbidding other kinds of public gatherings.

The friends of Paul Mellage may call at the Whitmer undertaking offices between 7 and 8:30 this Friday evening to view the remains. Owing to the illness of the members of the young man's own family and the family of his wife, the body will be placed in the vault and the funeral will be held at a later date.

MISS MIRIAM APPLE WILL BE ATTACHED TO PERSHING'S STAFF

The Baltimore Sun in a recent issue had the following story concerning Miss Miriam Apple, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Apple, of Frederick, Md., who is going abroad to be attached to General Pershing's staff in a clerical capacity.

Miss Miriam Apple, daughter of Dr. Joseph H. Apple, president of Good College, has joined a unit of young women in New York, who will be sent to France to be attached to General Pershing's staff as entourage and indexers. Miss Apple, who is a graduate of Good College, has been librarian since 1914. Last year she took a course in library science at Hamilton college, and was offered an advanced salary or a furlough to take up government work. She chose the latter and joined the unit to sail for France. Miss Florence Trail Davidson, a graduate of the college, has been appointed librarian during her absence.

JOHN BARLEYCORN IS FIGHTING LAST FIGHT IN OHIO

Old John Barleycorn is fighting his last fight in Ohio, and Han-like, he is fighting a trench fight, and under cover. Time out of mind he has stood boldly out on the ramparts and made his fight in the open field. He has brazenly asserted that he had a lawful right to exist, and that who ever attempted to destroy him was tramping on the "Personal liberty" of his devotees. Indeed, so loudly has he proclaimed that he was the sole and only exponent of "personal liberty" that a good many people had come to think that the booze gang were about the most liberty-loving citizens of the country. So strong were they for the personal rights of the citizen that one would have supposed that when this war began they would have been the very first to go to the front to defend the liberties of the world. One would have supposed that at the first call to arms there would have rushed to the colors of "Brewers' Brigade," a Bartender's Battalion, and a Distiller's Division. But not so. These lovers of personal liberty continued to use foodstuffs to manufacture booze, and the army of employees of Old John Barleycorn remained at their posts, making and distributing that which kills, and that which unfits men for military service. Indeed they pressed so closely up to the cantonments where Uncle Sam was collecting and training his cohorts that the fine old gentleman was compelled to thrust them out by force, make them stand back, and finally issue orders that this liberty-loving gang should not ply their trade within so many miles of any military camp, and to make it an offense for any soldier to be seen entering their precincts, in any part of the land. Why Uncle Sam did not go the whole length and order them off the face of the earth is a mystery which puzzles the average man. But in Ohio the voting public will deal the knockout blow in November. The handwriting is on the wall. He has been weighed in the balances and found wanting. He must go.

Yes, guess. When a young husband sits him down in his easy chair, and his child-wife slips quietly along, sits down in his lap and relates with tears trickling down her face that she hasn't had a new hat in three months—guess, gentle reader—which is the easier (or the un-easier), the chair or the husband.

CHANGES MIND ABOUT GOING AWAY

"Five years ago doctors told me I would have to move my wife to another climate, as she suffered with stomach and liver trouble and bloating. Also, that she would have to have an operation for gall stones. Our mail carrier told me of May's Wonderful Remedy and, on his advice, she has taken it and is now as well as ever in her life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Henshull, and druggists everywhere. adv

Pile Sufferers! Clever Ohio Chemist Says This Great Prescription Taken Internally Has Never Failed

Even chronic cases of 20 to 30 years standing, with profuse bleeding, have been completely cured in from three to ten days.

No discovery of recent years in the field of medicine has caused such a stir amongst the medical profession as the recent discovery that piles can be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful prescription known to druggists as Miro Pile Remedy.

It has been proved that so called external remedies applied or inserted into the rectum cannot cure piles, and at the best only give temporary relief. This is also true of surgical operations which simply remove them after formation, but in no wise acts on the source of the trouble.

This prescription, although taken internally, is not digested in the stomach, but is rapidly passed on unchanged to the intestines in a short time, reaching the exact place where by its soothing, healing action, it first allays all inflammation and then by direct contact with all ulcers and piles, causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days at most, even in cases with profuse bleeding that have resisted all known treatments and operation, really wonderful results have been accomplished.

The author of this amazing discovery desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Miro Pile Remedy decisively conquers even in the worst cases, and he has instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.

IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. adv

THOUSAND PLANES TAKE PART IN THE GREAT OFFENSIVE

The greatest defensive system in military history is falling like a house of cards before the greatest offensive forces of all time.

Along the whole 200 mile front from Lens to Verdun, the Germans are giving way in the world's biggest battle.

The French war office announced that in this new assault, directed at the heart of the great St. Gobain Massif, the village of Servais had been captured. This brings the French to within less than two miles of the village of St. Gobain.

Military authorities agree that fall of the St. Gobain Massif recognizes as the greatest defense on the west front, would precipitate a disaster which would utterly split the German armies and probably throw hundreds of thousands of the enemy into a trap from which there would be no escape.

The greatest air raid in history was carried out yesterday. Four hundred and fifty French, Italian and American planes participated, under American direction. With the machines engaged in regular pursuits, more than one thousand allied planes were in the air at one time. In the Balkans, French and Serbian troops are progressing northward toward Nish and westward toward the Austrians who are retreating before the Italians in Albania.

The Leinster was proceeding from Dublin to Holyhead.

The Leinster was a packet, the property of Dublin Steam Packet Company and was registered at Dublin. She was of 2,646 gross tons.

Foster Spahr Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bush, of Springfield, and grandson of Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Spahr of this city, died at the Springfield City Hospital, Thursday afternoon, after three weeks' illness. He was stricken suddenly, and at first it was thought there was no hope for him. He leaves his parents, two brothers and a sister, Albert, Mark and Elda.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
